SAY YES TO THE UNEXPECTED

I think that is the quest we are all on - the desire to be whole, but that a new thought recently

Some times it feels like we come into life whole & our experiences over time take little bits & pieces & we expect so much time & energy those gaps, uses our resources to plug the holes, but hoping against hope to get whole before we die.

What if we get whole now & spend the rest of our lives living from that place?
