

Laura McMillan

Vice President of Strategic Planning and Deployment

Laura McMillan is vice president of Strategic Planning and Deployment for Group Health Cooperative, one of the nation's largest consumer-governed health care systems. She also serves as chief of staff to the president and CEO.

McMillan works directly with the CEO and the executive leadership team to develop long-range and annual business strategy for the organization. She is responsible for the ongoing creation and execution of the Lean-based Group Health Management System across the organization, and for the development and deployment of Lean consulting services at Group Health.

McMillan has more than 24 years of health care experience. Prior to her current roles, she led Provider Relations for Group Health. She has a Master of Business Administration from the University of Washington and a Bachelor of Science in Health Care Administration from Whitworth University.

She represents Group Health on the Washington Vaccine Association board and also serves on the boards of World Association for Children and Parents (WACAP) and the Salal Credit Union.

About Group Health

Founded in 1947, Group Health Cooperative is an innovative nonprofit health care system that provides integrated care and coverage. Along with its subsidiary carriers, Group Health Options, Inc. and KPS Health Plans, Group Health works to improve the health of more than 600,000 plan members in Washington and Idaho.

More than 9,000 staff employed by Group Health and Group Health Permanente, its multispecialty medical group, provide patient-centered, evidence-based care to members and the broader community through medical and specialty centers, a hospital, a charitable foundation, and a nationally recognized research center.
