DRS Agency Key Goal – Elated Customers
DRS Outcome Measure – 01 Customer Satisfaction

Report reviewed and approved by: Tracy Guerin

II. Project Summary:
The Department of Retirement Systems improved customers’ access to the agency by constructing a new phone tree. The new phone tree has reduced customers’ time to get to a live person from an average of 1 minute 20 seconds to 45 seconds by going from up to four phone tree selections to reach a team member to one phone tree selection in most cases to reach a team member. The new phone tree has also reduced the number of callers opting out to the receptionist to be transferred to appropriate areas from 28% to 14%.

III. Project Details:
Identify the problem: The existing phone tree took callers up to four phone tree selections and up to 1 minute and 30 seconds before the caller was speaking to a live person. Wording and/or acronyms left callers confused as to what to select; therefore, 28% of callers would opt out of the phone tree to the receptionists, who would then transfer the caller to the appropriate division. Customer satisfaction interviews indicated customers were confused with selections on the phone tree.

Problem statement: Currently, DRS customers have to select up to four phone tree options to speak to a team member compared to our target of one selection, which we want to reach by 10/31/2016.

Improvement description: A nine-person DRS project team worked with a team member from WATECH to build a new phone tree. The main DRS message was shortened, additional “on hold” messaging was added and the phone tree hierarchy was reduced from four or more levels to one level in most cases. The project team reviewed customer feedback and collaborated with the DRS Communications Team to plain talk the phone tree options to lessen customer confusion. The new phone tree was implemented on Oct. 25, 2016. Since the phone tree has been in place there has been a reduction in transferred calls from 28% to 14%. Team members have expressed that customer feedback has been overwhelmingly positive.

Customer involvement: DRS leaders conduct approximately 90 customer interviews monthly where we ask our recently retired members about their experience with DRS during their retirement process. DRS had received comments with concerns about confusion in wording with our old phone tree. The project team utilized these comments to help identify areas where we could improve wording to lessen confusion for our customers. Since the implementation of the new phone tree, DRS has received several positive comments in relation to the ease of using the new phone tree.

IV. Impact to Washingtonians:

- Improved Customer experience for
- Reduced time spent in phone tree by an average of 35 seconds for
- Reduced the amount of phone transfers by 14% for
- Reduced the number of phone tree selections from 4 to 1 for Washingtonians
